Amazing Hoax Now Revealed In 'Kidnaping'

Body Of Baby Supposed To Be Kidnaped Found In Own Home

DEATH OCCURRED
ON NOVEMBER 24
(BULLETIN)

CHELSEA, Mass., Dec. 15.—(INS)—Mrs. Rose Carlan, young mother of six-month-old Ronald, whose body she hid in a wall cabinet and then reported to police he had been kidnapped, was charged with first degree murder in a district court today.

In a calm, clear voice, she said: "I didn't do what you said I did."

The 23 year old wife of Navy Machinist James J. Carlan was held without bail and sent to Boston Psychopathic hospital for observation.

CHELSEA, Mass., Dec. 15.—(INS)—Guests at a party attended by Mrs. Rose Carlan as the body of her six-month-old son Ronald lay in his carriage in the Carlan apartment below were questioned today while the mother was held as a suspicious person.

Mrs. Carlan was to be arraigned today.

Investigators sought to determine if any person other than the mother knew in advance of one of the most amazing hoaxes in the history of American criminology.

Vital organs of little Ronald, whose body was concealed in a wall cabinet, because "I feared people who say I neglected my baby," were turned over to the state pathologist for chemical examination.

Navy Machinist 2-c James J. Carlan, recently transferred from Oakland, Calif., was loyally standing by.

Gen. Marshall Leaves For New Post In China

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(INS)—Gen. George C. Marshall left Washington by plane today on a special mission to China for President Truman.

Marshall took off from the capital shortly after 9 a. m. EST in a four-engine C-54 transport plane. He was expected to arrive in Chungking next Thursday.

The former Army chief of staff who was named to succeed Patrick J. Hurley as ambassador to China, was accompanied by two aides. They were Col. Henry A. Brodard, military aide, and James R. Shepley, from the State department.

General Marshall was bade farewell by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, his successor as Army chief of staff, Gen. Carl Spaatz and Thomas T. Handy, Admiral Harold R. Stark, and Chinese Ambassador Wei-Tao-Ming.

Facing Trying Task

Marshall made no statement as he boarded the plane that will take him face-to-face with the urgent task of trying to bring peace between warring Chinese Nationalist and Communist factions.

Marshall's job was expected to be made easier by the fact that Secretary of State James F. Byrnes will, at the same time, be conferring with the Chinese government.

Gen. Homma To Face War Trial
During January

MANILA, Dec. 15.—(INS)—The war crimes trial of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Homma was expected today to open in the second week of January.

Indications were that Homma will be called to answer to the charge of responsibility for the infamous Bataan "death march" on January 9.

The former Jap Philippine commander will make his first appearance before the military commission which will try him when he is arraigned Tuesday.

Brigadier Generals Robert Card and Warren McNaught were named to complete the five-star tribunal which will determine Homma's fate.

Both Card and McNaught have been combat service, and their appointments to the court emphasized the known shortage of personnel for the crimes trial.

Record Mailing
Day Is Indicated

Large Line Of Mailers Is Noted At
Post Office This Morning,
With Office Prepared

Indications pointed to the fact that a record volume of mail will be received and dispatched at the New Castle Post Office today.

This morning, the largest line of package mailers yet noted at eight o'clock was pressing the clerks for service, and the chutes which had been put in place yesterday for packages and letters were full.

Postmaster Hanna was prepared for the big influx, however, with extra clerks and carriers to take care of the rush.

High School Boy
Shoots His Father

EASTON, Pa., Dec. 15.—(INS)—A 16-year-old high school pupil told police today that he shot and killed his father to save his mother from a beating in their Portland home, 20 miles north of Easton.

The victim, killed by a .22 calibre rifle bullet in the head, was Willis Dorsey Davidge, 47, well-known dog fancier and breeder.

The boy, Walter, and his mother were taken to Easton for questioning by District Attorney Stanley J. Fehr after authorities were called to the scene by the Davidge family doctor, summoned by the hysterical mother following the shooting.

President May Pearl Harbor Appeal To Nation On Strike Issue

Indications Of Effort To Force Action On Strike
Control Measure

VOTE IN HOUSE
BEING SOUGHT
(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(INS)—High administration circles indicated today that President Truman may appeal directly to the nation in an effort to force action on his requested strike control legislation.

The president may make a radio address on the whole subject of labor-management problems and the strikes that are now seriously threatening the nation's reconversion program.

No final decision has been made, it was stated on authority, but the president is expected to make some move to take his case to the country at large.

Meanwhile administration forces are working to obtain a vote in the house on President Truman's labor proposal before congress recesses next week.

Virtually no chance remained of final enactment this year of the Norton-Elender bill, which embodies the president's recommendations for an enforced 30-day non-strike "cooling off" period during which fact-finding boards would investigate major labor disputes.

Consequently, the administration centered its efforts on obtaining a vote in the house at least in the hope of strengthening the president's hands somewhat in his efforts to settle the General Motors strike and head off threatened walkouts in basic industries.

Woman Plunges
To Her Death In
New York Today

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—(INS)—Mrs. Edith Singer, 35, wife of a Washington, D. C. department store executive, plunged to her death at 6 a. m. today from a window in the 15th floor apartment of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Elvira Singer.

Police, being the death as "suicide or fall," said Mrs. Singer had been suffering from a nervous ailment and was under care of a doctor. She arrived in New York by a visit Tuesday.

Her husband, Harold I. Singer, who recently completed 15 months as an army officer in Africa, was notified and was on his way to New York.

Mrs. Singer was in night attire. The body was identified by Harry Gutman, husband of Mrs. Singer's twin sister.

Testify 'Abandon Ship' Order Given

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(INS)—Defense witnesses testified today at the court martial of Capt. Charles B. McVay III that the order to abandon ship was given several minutes before the cruiser Indianapolis was sunk in the Pacific.

First witness called as McVay opened his defense against charges of negligence and inefficiency was Radioman H. H. Hodge of Lendhurst, N. J.

Hodge told the court that he passed the executive officer of the Indianapolis shouting through his cupped hands from the bridge the order "abandon ship."

The local board, Fayette County No. 8, wired selective service officials in Harrisburg that it was the "unanimous sentiment" of the board "not to forward any boys for induction Dec. 20. The board had a quota of 20 men."

The war is over and we feel a relief of a few days will make little difference. We think we are acting in the proper spirit," a spokesman declared.

Guilty Of Manslaughter Is Condella Verdict

Anthony Condella of Ellwood City was found guilty of manslaughter Friday night by the jury trying him for the killing of Isaac Ralph Swartzlager on September 15 at Ellwood City. The maximum penalty for manslaughter is six to twelve years in the penitentiary.

The jury took the case at one o'clock Friday afternoon, and after eating lunch started to deliberate. At the beginning of the deliberation it is said the jury was divided eight to four for acquittal. After nearly eight hours of debate and balloting the verdict was returned at 9:30 p. m.

Condella shot Swartzlager to death in a case in Ellwood City. His counsel contended it was self defense that Swartzlager had attacked Condella and fearing for his life he fired twice.

Counsel for Condella indicated they would appeal the verdict. Before sentence can be pronounced the appeal, it taken, must be disposed of.

Fact-Finding Board To Start Strike Probes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(INS)—The government's General Motors fact-finding board faced the prospect today of early controversy with the striking CIO-UAW and the company over the scope of its inquiry into the deadlocked wage dispute.

At preliminary sessions with the parties in Washington next week, the three-man board will be confronted with such problems as:

1. How much weight to attach in the course of its deliberations to the factor of "ability to pay."

2. How to handle the union demand that the company exhibit its books or financial records and GM's refusal to do so.

In the old wage dispute in which a similar government panel started formal hearings Monday, the industry demanded that the issue of "ability to pay" be excluded. The panel refused, however, to exclude this factor.

TOKYO, Dec. 15.—(INS)—Tokyo's current crime wave was officially brought to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's attention today when the Japanese police asked permission to carry pistols and tear gas.

In a message to secretary headquarters, the police contended that they needed arms to combat gangs of hoodlums which have been blamed for more than 80 murders since Japan's surrender.

Cases of murder and theft have been on the increase and even the clothing has been stripped from many victims of recent attacks.

A change in Japan's political complexion was seen in the acceptance of a public position by Baron Kantaro Suzuki, premier at the time of the surrender.

Suzuki will be president of the privy council, a position vacated by Baron Kichiro Hirobumi, a war criminal suspect.

Two months ago Suzuki was in hiding, fearful of attempts on his life. Before long, he was again in the saddle, the surrender was announced and his home was burned by fanatics seeking to assassinate him.

Woman Observes
105th Birthday

HALLTOWN, Mo., Dec. 15.—(INS)—A tiny, grey-haired great-great-grandmother celebrated her 105th birthday at her Halltown home today by rising at 6 o'clock and smoking a clay pipeful of tobacco.

Catherine Elkins Johnson was born near Mt. Vernon, Mo., December 15, 1840, during the administration of Martin Van Buren, eighth president of the United States.

The spy, straight-backed centenarian reared her family of six children, four of whom are living, on a farm near Halltown. Her husband died over 70 years ago. Her grandchildren, great and great-great-grandchildren have become so numerous that she lost count after they totaled more than 80.

Hunter's Gun
Taken By Deer

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Dec. 15.—(INS)—Wade Satterfield, of Fairmont, W. Va., just won't live this one down. He went deer hunting and the deer ran away with his gun.

It happened this way: Satterfield and a companion, A. B. Knight, were hunting near Berkeley Springs, W. Va., just over the Maryland line. They shot a deer which toppled, then arose and ran. The men followed.

When they reached the wounded animal he charged, pinning Satterfield to the ground. Then he ran off with Satterfield's rifle entangled in his antlers.

A short time later the buck was found dead with the rifle still in his antlers.

That's all, brother.

MOSCOW, Dec. 15.—(INS)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes called on Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today for preliminary discussions before opening of the conference of "Big Three" foreign ministers in Moscow.

More than 40 members of Byrnes' staff, occupying three Dakota transports, were obliged to turn back to Gatoon airport after the British party left Berlin at 8:00 a. m. German time today. Byrnes' Skymaster continued the flight to Moscow despite an air raid encounter soon after the takeoff from Berlin.

U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was on hand early today to await formal opening of the conference. Judging from Byrnes' statement last night upon his arrival in the Soviet capital, the discussions will be conducted in an atmosphere of reasonable negotiation.

Although a number of other international issues are pressing for settlement, it was expected the Anglo-American-Canadian proposal to place atomic control in the hands of the United Nations organization will receive top attention.

Evidence Against
Cline Piling Up

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—(INS)—San Francisco police authorities today announced they were ready to strengthen the case against Alfred Leonard Cline, who has been charged with the murder of an elderly woman in Dallas, Tex.

The Dallas charge was based mainly on a physician's statement that he was ready to swear that Cline was the cause of death of a woman who, like at least four others, died suddenly while in Cline's company.

Cline's attorney, J. W. "Jack" Ehrlich, called San Francisco police, served notice that he will fight extradition to Texas on the murder charge.

Police at Portland, Ore., and Mexico City, also were investigating death, with which Cline's name has been linked but were not ready to charge.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

After a trek through the mountains in search of deer, Sam Truby of Newport came home to bag an 11-point buck near his home.

From a local woman, a request is made that someone send in a recipe for the proper way to cook deer meat and "Cook it right!" How about it?

Lt. Wayne M. Brandt, of Enon Valley, reported to Pa. News that he shot a ten point buck, weighing 155 pounds on December 3, in Forrest County.

Pa. News is wondering what some motorists will do when the new type parking meters are installed in the city. In a checkup, Friday afternoon, it was discovered that almost every fourth or fifth meter had apparently been "set" so that the motorist could return every so often and turn the meter back.

A number of local women are inviting themselves to good colds these days, it is noted, by Pa. News. Quite a few of the girls were noticed down town walking around in the shops with open-toed shoes and no gashers or rubbers to protect their feet, on Friday afternoon.

In the odd sights department, one young lady was seen trudging up East Washington street, Friday afternoon, with a ladder almost twice her size.

Parking meters in New Castle have been used for many purposes since their installation, such as hitching posts, tying dogs to them, bicycle parking places and, of course, for timing automobiles, but Pa. News has discovered that a couple of the meters have turned into a lost and found department.

AMAZING HOAX NOW REVEALED IN 'KIDNAPING'

his wife in answer to her plea of "I didn't hurt Ronnie... I don't want to go to jail." A detective found the tiny, bullet-riddled figure in a box wedged in a cupboard drawer. Authorities said Mrs. Carlan tearfully admitted that the baby died Nov. 24, four days before she reported him missing, while she was attending a party in an upstairs apartment.

Fearing the wrath of her husband, Navy machinist's Mate James J. Carlan, stationed at Oakland, Calif., who had never seen the child, she was quoted as saying she hid the body and finally initiated one of Massachusetts' most thorough kidnap hunts.

Ransom Demands Made

The state-wide search was punctuated by ransom demands from unknown persons apparently seeking to cash in on the much-publicized case.

She said that when she came downstairs about 10:30 p.m. to get a photograph and records she found little Ronald frothing at the mouth in his carriage. He died shortly afterwards, and according to the police version, Mrs. Carlan went back to the party.

At 3 a.m. she was quoted as saying she hid the body in the cupboard and on the two succeeding days placed the empty carriage outside the apartment house in the hope that someone would report the baby missing. On the second day, a neighbor did so and police were notified.

The father, home on an extended leave to aid the "kidnap" search, said he would "stick by" his wife. The couple have one other child, James, Jr., 3.

Authorities said a complete autopsy report would be ready today.

Cancellation of the presentation of "The Messiah," scheduled for Sunday evening, will probably occasion some changes in church programs in the city on Sunday evening.

Thermometer on the public square, recording the sales of bonds in the Victory Loan campaign to individuals, is recording the mercury at the top of the tube, indicating that the goal has been exceeded. Another smaller thermometer has been erected alongside the larger one, recording the progress of the E bond campaign alone, and this shows a considerable distance yet to go for final victory. Many more E bond purchases are necessary to reach this goal.

Travel conditions during the past few days have resulted in large numbers of motorists having chains attached to the wheels of their autos, as a safety measure. Rather deep snow makes chains a traffic help in many circumstances.

Program announced for erection of lighted Christmas trees on the public square and on the hillside at The Cathedral, indicates that a holiday touch will be given to the downtown area. Due to the lack of equipment, no special holiday lighting was possible on the downtown streets this year, as in the pre-war years.

After four days deer hunting in Cameron county with no luck, Layton Huling of Grandview avenue, decided to try in the vicinity of Nassau, near The Harbor Friday, and brought down a four-point buck weighing about 150 pounds. Having recently returned from a long period of Army service in Europe.

Every now and then in comparing weather statistics from one year to another, one strikes a day on which the temperatures were almost identical. Today's readings show that. A year ago on December 14 the highest temperature was 29 degrees, the same as yesterday's, while the minimum a year ago today on that date was 11 degrees, against 13 for this morning.

Another Lawrence county nurod, J. P. Butts, of the Harbor road, has been quite successful this season. Mr. Butts bagged a three-point buck Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the Edenburg district, Union township.

Stormy Outlook For International Efforts

President Truman was quoted as stating recently there would be no more meetings of the Big Three, intimating that henceforward world problems would be put up to the United Nations Organization for settlement.

Certainly the President is justified in suggesting there will be no more meetings of the Big Three, if we measure future possibilities by past results. Meetings of the Big Three in the past, while widely heralded and followed by glowing accounts of what happened, have been followed by disappointment and disillusion. Teheran, Yalta, and Berlin are examples.

If the UNO is to live up to advance expectations then certainly problems affecting world politics ought to be presented to it for adjudication. Whether such submission will be more fruitful of results than were the meetings of the Big Three remains to be seen.

The average student may be forgiven if he expresses some doubt on the subject. Take the present example of the difficulties of Iran, a member of the organization. The government claims the trouble over there is due to Russian machinations in efforts to get oil concessions and a warm water port. If the UNO gets this problem, all Stalin has to do is to veto its consideration by the court, and that will end it.

Certainly the future of international relations still looks decidedly stormy. Many of our own international "experts" say that the only way to clear the skies is to appease Stalin by giving him what he wants. Where have we heard that one before?

Warning In Old Nazi Plots

No doubt there were many who read the headlines telling of fat Hermann Goering's talk of bombing New York—back in 1938—shrugged their shoulders and turned to more momentous things. It was "old stuff."

It is indeed, "old stuff," just history to light in the Nuremberg trials. But what Adolf Hitler, Fiesco and the rest of the Nazi elite were thinking and even talking about has a grim meaning to us today.

Goering growled at German aircraft manufacturers in his secret 1938 speech because they weren't producing a long-range bomber that could carry 5000 pounds of explosives to drop on New York and return to Germany.

Two years later, when Hitler was at the peak of his career of conquest in Europe, it was noted in a memorandum just dug out of the files of the Nazi high command that: "Der Fuehrer is at present concerned with the question of occupation of the Atlantic Isles with a view to prosecution of the war against America at a later date."

That memorandum was made October 29, 1940. We had just passed a draft law while vociferous opponents demanded, "Against whom are we going to fight?" The same question is being flung out by groups and individuals today against every proposal to keep America's defenses strong.

No one today could say who might attack us in the future. But keep this fact in mind: America now is the richest nation in the world. It would be an inviting prize if we should again permit our defenses to lapse.

Demobilization Or Disintegration?

There has been much criticism of the demobilization program. Part of the criticism springs from revulsion of free-born American citizens to militarism. Part derives from those who want to get members of their families home, and view any obstruction, no matter how unavoidable, with belligerence. Part comes from the fact that some phases of demobilization actually have been tripped up by confusion.

In justice to the military forces who served the nation so faithfully and efficiently through the worst crisis in the history of this country, their side of the story should be included in the record.

Though it may surprise some, the Army is discharging more than 40,000 men a day. Both the Army and Navy are ahead of schedule in demobilizing. The Army plans to release 54 per cent more men by Christmas than was thought possible a few weeks ago. In reality, demobilization is proceeding at a dangerously rapid pace. General Marshall, who believes in releasing men at the fastest possible rate, warns that: "For the moment, in a widespread emotional crisis of the American people, demobilization has become, in effect, disintegration, not only of the armed forces but apparently of all conception of world responsibility and what it demands of us." Admiral King has vehemently expressed a similar opinion. This is something to ponder.

Moreover, in spite of the tumult of criticism, it should not be forgotten that military leadership American style, red tape and all, can on occasion be very human. There was the incident in San Francisco a short time ago when Rear Admiral Wright, commandant of that district, acting on his own initiative, removed more than a hundred men eligible for discharge, from a Japan-bound transport minutes before sailing time.

Yes, there are two sides to every story, even in the case of demobilization. Have the American people forgotten Pearl Harbor? The long uphill pull from there to Midway, to Okinawa, to Japan? Have they forgotten the Normandy invasion, the miseries of the whole long European campaign? Have they forgotten the miracles of military skill that lifted them out of the depths of despair to victory? Have they forgotten that this victory came just a few short months ago, and that the generals and admirals have had to switch from invasion and attack to demobilization in an incredibly short time?

An injection of old-fashioned patriotism would be a good thing for all of us.

Remember the good old days when the white collar man could afford bacon and eggs?

Those who take the constitutional guarantee of pursuit of happiness literally must do it on 1941 tires.

Trouble in Asia should not be regarded as start of World War III, as it is only World Peace II in operation.

When pe quits work and decides to loaf around for a while, it's a good thing ma doesn't go out on a sympathy strike.

Mother says that when she was a girl Christmas shopping was easy. All she had to do was buy papa a mustache cup and mama a new brush and crumb tray.

There are few Christmas tree ornaments in the stores this year, but you can still make satisfactory substitutes out of paper flowers and festoons of white popcorn.

Housing Expediter Faces Huge Problem

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Of the 1,000,000 men a month being discharged from the services, at least 400,000 are looking for new homes. As this goes on month after month, the housing situation daily grows more acute.

Whether the action taken by the White House goes far enough is a question worrying those who have studied the problem. The danger is that while it will be widely heralded as a measure to help veterans, it will in reality not give very much help.

In allocating materials, the President's order applies a cut-off-for-the-benefit of veterans—on dwellings costing not more than $10,000. This can mean a concentration at around that figure with practically nothing in the $6,000 to $7,500 class.

Surveys made by the Army show that two-thirds of all returning veterans who want homes feel that they cannot pay more than $50 a month either in rent or in carrying charges. That means at most a $5,000 house.

Prohibitive Price
For most American families $10,000 has always been a prohibitive price. That is the weakness in the presidential order.

Without additional legislation, price ceilings cannot be fixed on either new or old houses. Unless Congress acts quickly to pass Rep. Wright's plan, the bill, with its relatively simple control provision, the speculative boom will go on.

Without such legislation, the new housing expediter, Wilson W. Wyatt, former mayor of Louisville, will find his job an almost hopeless one. All the expediting in the world will not produce as many homes as the 500,000 housing units in 1946 and that is a very optimistic figure.

Wyatt is an excellent choice. As mayor of Louisville for four years, he did a really constructive job of city administration. He is intensely hard working, conscientious and yet with a saving sense of humor.

To the so-called expediter, the public and particularly the veterans, will look for a solution of the housing jam. But if the powers are lacking to set prices and take off some of the pressure, Expediter Wyatt may find himself a scapegoat in an impossible situation.

Looking up already is an ever recurring theme which will come next year. That will be over new controls.

They expire, along with the whole OPA on June 30. Chester Bowles of OPA has insisted that these controls must be continued. More recently others in the administration who were like-warm or indifferent have come to see what dynamite is in the housing question and they have supported Bowles.

Bowles played Daniel in the Bon's den the other day in boldness going before the convention of the National Association of Manufacturers to argue for continuation of federal controls. The NAM had recommended that all wartime restrictions be removed by February 15.

On that occasion Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio chose to play to the NAM galleries by ridiculing the control argument. He got a big hand.

Some Of Strategy
The strategy of those who would eliminate Federal control is to insist that rents can be held in line by local authorities. The catch in this is that local authorities are much more subject to local pressures.

Today in New York, one of the more congested areas in the country, landlords are offering tenants contracts beyond next June 30 at 25 to 40 per cent increases. The tenant is being told that this is a favor to him since rent control is to be abolished with the certainty of a jump in rents of 50 per cent or more.

The astonishing thing is to find responsible business men in the NAM backing a runaway boom which would almost certainly have serious consequences. If indeed, it did not precipitate a disastrous crash NAM President Ira Mosher solemnly argues that prices have nothing to do with collective bargaining and wage control.

It will be a fierce battle. But with so many millions of families in the tenant category it is hard to see how Congress can throw controls overboard.

BOW-TIE COMPLAINT

All sorts of striking ties are planned for wearers of the four-in-hand. But little's done (Is truth I pen) For us peculiar bow-tie men.

Because we are a minor lot. They doom us to the polka dot. And remnants of the solid hues. From which a lifetime we must choose.

The brothers of the four-in-hand Have endless choices at command. But bow-tie wearers, weak of voice, From ancient stock must make a choice.

"Bow-tie?" the clerk says. "We've a few!" But nothing different or new. Upon his thumb he shapes a knot. With "Here's a lovely polka dot!"

Sun sets tonight 4:36. Sun rises tomorrow 6:55.

If women weren't smarter than men there wouldn't be any marriages.

Some birds smoke any given amount of cigarettes every day.

Before doing anything mean have a good excuse ready.

CO-OPERATION

The junior partner had charge of hiring all the help and it was a rare thing for the senior partner to make any suggestions but when he found the junior partner interviewing an exceptionally pretty girl, he called him aside and whispered: "Hire her, Jim. Hire her."

"I have."

"Can she take dictation and type?"

"We'll find that out later," said the junior partner. "I didn't want any obstacles to crop up."

Do not confuse the one track mind. It is far better to master one thing thoroughly than to mix a big basket of tricks around that are not in perfect working order.

Nothing probably ever happened that won't happen again.

The height of brotherly kindness was reached when one drunk said to another who was lying on the sidewalk: "I can't help you up, but I'll be down with you."

When you make up your Christmas list don't forget the most precious gift you can give is a Victory Bond.

Having a big family is more of a man's notion than a woman's.

What a big difference it makes whether you receive interest or pay it.

Trying to get more out of marriage than it contains is what wrecks it.

QUERY QUADRUPLE

Let us be honest! Truthfully, if you were condemned for life to a verdant but uninhabited island in the South Pacific and were allowed to take just one person with you, would you dare to breathe his air or hear his name ever again?

Have you ever noticed that many people who have committed the Golden Rule to memory never commit it to life?

Why is it that the gratitude of most men is but a secret desire of receiving greater benefits?

The question isn't "are you good?"—but "are you good for something?"

Success that comes too fast is apt to turn right around and go just as fast in the opposite direction.

A man with means is often the meanest man.

How Heck says "The records don't show that Adam put up much of a protest when Eve tempted him."

Smart Alec says some prices are high because some people are low down.

Never mind the scientists. The ability to invent a gadget doesn't qualify a man to tell nations what to do with it.

Which parent's qualities dominate? Well, all of the mule's bad qualities derive from the fact that his father was an ass.

As any banker can tell you, the possession of talent seldom means the possession of sound judgment.

Bad debts come from selling goods to the wrong man . . . and that applies to business as well as government.

With all their experience, wisdom and knowledge, the experts never seem able to tell us what we are up against until we are up against it.

To foreign lands: You needn't be just be suspicious of us and we'll give anything we have to appease you.

We have treaties and agreements to safeguard us, but Alas! no nation bent on war ever let a treaty stand in its way.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Maybe you read a column of mine in which I poked a little fun at the opera and said that a lot of people only went to it because it is considered "the thing to do."

Well, a lot of people agreed with me, and a few criticized me as an uncultured lowbrow who doesn't appreciate the finer things of life.

We folks who write for a living or act for a living or sing for a living have to expect criticism as well as praise, and I don't mind it if somebody throws a rotten tomato at me, even if it be only in the form of an anonymous letter.

But I wish some of my critics could have been with me when the Metropolitan Opera opened in New York a few days ago.

If you had gotten as far as page seventeen in your next morning's newspaper, you would have seen that it was actually an opera and not a horse show or some other society event.

Some people did snort on the stage and a few Swedish tones did a very creditable performance of Lohengrin, that noble Wagnerian hero who has to be a combination singer and acrobat ready to do his job well.

But that wasn't really the important part of the affair. If the stage had been in back or in one of the many smaller rooms of the Opera House it would have been just as well.

Because—
On page one of my morning paper there is a big headline, "Opera Opening Is Brilliant, President's Wife Attends." Then it talks about the "extra gala occasion" and gives a complete list of all the society people who were present and a detailed description of what they wore.

Another headline informs me that the traditional elegance and pomp of the opening of the Metropolitan Opera House was given additional drama last night by the presence of the wife of the President of the United States—the President being the gentleman who, at the same moment, certainly must have had his hands full with many much more pressing things than the opera.

Another headline tells "Richness of Fest Sobered as Premiere as Fashions Brilliant." And Marks Opening—House was given additional drama last night by the presence of the wife of the President of the United States—the President being the gentleman who, at the same moment, certainly must have had his hands full with many much more pressing things than the opera.

He has good sense, his good or bad opinion of mankind is accurate only in showing what kind of people he has associated with.

A 75-year-old Canadian, though bare-headed, assumed a pistol-brandishing 25-year-old thing. This should warn holdup men to pick only on victims their size—and age.

Yes, it was a brilliant occasion indeed and there were also lots of music lovers, in addition to millionaires, dishwashers, sailors and diplomats.

On, not another little society note! "Devotees stand in line for hours. Standing room went on sale at 5 p. m."

There were also a few boxholders among the audience. They sat mostly egg crates on which they sat while waiting in line. Very little was noticed among that kind of boxholder.

Mrs. Truman Proves She Has Mind Of Own

First Lady Follows Own Ideas On Parties

Mrs. Truman Criticizes Press Conference

By HELEN ESSARY (Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Mrs. Truman certainly is doing as she pleases. It is a pleasure to watch her knock down precedents. Particularly social precedents.

There were those observers who said: "Oh, dear! Mrs. Truman isn't going to hold press conferences. What an unsettling course for the First Lady to take!" Particularly after Mrs. Roosevelt's.

A mistaken prophecy indeed. Mrs. Truman is following her own lead. She is not going to hold press conferences. Eleanor Roosevelt ever showed. Take the matter of the First Lady to take!

Mrs. Truman asked the women who waited to ask for that moment. She said she would not stand around, buffet style with the men, but she would sit down with them.

Still further proof of Mrs. Truman's social precedent smashing. She is entertaining wives of officers of the army and navy and the wives of her husband at several formal dinners. Mrs. Roosevelt used to have the ladies in solid blue for tea. Now after blue of ladies, Mrs. Truman is inviting the gentlemen too. She may be getting tired with her own female.

At Press Conference

One more item to prove my prediction. Mrs. Truman is not going to hold a formal press conference. She is not going to hold a formal press conference. She is not going to hold a formal press conference.

Still another word. Mrs. Truman is not going to hold a formal press conference. She is not going to hold a formal press conference. She is not going to hold a formal press conference.

— THE WONDERFUL CHRIST (Part III) —

He never marshalled an army, but millions have volunteered in His army of love and would suffer martyrdom before they would give up their allegiance to Him. He never used force to compel people to submit to Himself, but He drew them to Himself by lovingkindness. He has never lost a battle with His army of love. His lovingkindness has caused more rebels to stark arms and joyfully join His army, than all the armies combined of all history. Even the devils trembled at the mention of His holy Name. He never wrote a book, but people have written by means to His praise by the millions. The Bible that He inspired holy men to write has stood the test of sixteen centuries and was the first book to be printed on movable type, and has more sales than all other books combined. All nations that do not honor His Word have GONE DOWN to oblivion, but nations that have honored His Word have been EXALTED. Nobody has ever found any flaw in His character.

By His nail-pierced hands and feet. He has swung empires off their hinges. When He died upon the Cross the air refused to shine, the earth shook, rocks were thrown from graves were opened, until the centurion cried, "Surely this was the Son of God." When He uttered the words, "It is finished," it shook hell to its foundation. The portals of hell were in consternation when He uttered the words, "It is finished," but the portals of heaven were reverberated with the songs of the angels, for the plan of salvation had been finished. The joyful sound was carried on the air, until it reached our ears today, across nineteen centuries after they had been uttered, and the sound is still rolling on and will never cease. It was not a cry of defeat, but the greatest cry of victory the world has ever known. To be concluded.

Dr. Hugh T. Kerr Addresses Meeting On European Needs

Speaks In First Presbyterian Church
Friday Evening Of European Conditions

An appreciative audience in the First Presbyterian church, North Harrison street, Friday evening heard Dr. Hugh Thompson Kerr, pastor emeritus of the Shadyside Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, tell of the suffering and devastation going on in Europe at the present time and what the Presbyterians are doing to alleviate that condition.

Dr. J. M. McElhiney, pastor of the church, opened the relief meeting with the invocation, after which he introduced Dr. C. S. Conley, pastor of the Dormont Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, who read the scripture lesson.

Lillian Stambaugh and Madeline Rink accompanied by Garth Edmondson at the organ presented a vocal duet, "The Lord Is My Light."

Outlines Program
The chairman of the laymen's committee of the Shenango Presbytery, J. S. Boyer, of Edinburg, Pa., prefaced the address of the evening with a general outline of what is to be done by the Presbyterians for the relief of suffering Europe.

In his address, which sounded the alarm of the Shenango Presbytery's part in a $27,000,000 restoration fund for the European Christian church, Dr. Kerr stated: "We must relieve and restore the German Christian church first of all, and unless that is done there is little hope for the Christian church as a whole on the continent of Europe."

He gave the audience a panorama view of his several month trip which took him to France, Belgium, Holland, Germany and Czechoslovakia during his three months abroad, stating that during his trip he found no laughter, no humor, no smiles in Europe, but all seriousness and ended by quoting the Macedonian call "Come over and help us." Dr. Kerr closed in prayer, following which Dr. McElhiney called the ministers and laymen's committee of Shenango Presbytery together to outline their part in the effort to meet the situation of the European Christians.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

ception of war as a duty—or perhaps even a privilege. They are able to create situations which distort their own aggressiveness into a holy cause of self-defense. Because hatred of an "enemy" distracts the minds of the populace from their own domestic grievances, it helps to maintain the power and prestige of the war-makers. The public opinion is blinded to the moral phases of war and is led to differentiate it from individual morality.

Justice Jackson, as United States prosecutor in the International War Crimes Court, is undertaking to establish the fundamental principle that aggressive warfare is a crime against humanity, as individual murder and plundering are crimes against the State. It is a sound principle and one against which no logical argument can be raised. It is a principle which, through the United Nations, ought to be written into international law. Whether the court will accept this principle in imposing adequate penalties on the long list of war criminals now on trial remains to be seen. Whether the nations of the world will accept it and public opinion confirm it also are matters yet to be determined.

Civilized society has been able to protect itself against individual criminals only by laws defining crime and providing for its punishment by orderly process. World society will never be able to protect itself against criminal aggressors except by applying the same moral and legal standards to nations as to individuals. Until the principles advanced by Justice Jackson are embodied in an international code and accepted by civilized nations there is small hope of immunity from new and more terrible wars.

On his address, which sounded the alarm of the Shenango Presbytery's part in a $27,000,000 restoration fund for the European Christian church, Dr. Kerr stated: "We must relieve and restore the German Christian church first of all, and unless that is done there is little hope for the Christian church as a whole on the continent of Europe."

Local Serviceman Tells Of Smuggling Tricks Of Japanese

Pvt. Nolan Cobb Writes From Korea
Telling Of Tricks Being Tried
Against Yanks

In a letter received from their son, Pvt. Nolan Cobb, of 131 1/2 East Long avenue, learned of the underhanded methods and tricks which the Japanese and Korean military men use when trying to smuggle their loot into their homeland.

Pvt. Nolan Cobb, a survivor of the typhoon experienced recently on Okinawa, and had his belongings destroyed, and lost during the raging storm, and miraculously escaped with his life.

From Okinawa, the youthful serviceman was sent to Japan, Korea, and it is from there that his letters are written. He states in part:

Half Smuggling Attempt
"The Japanese are searched and their baggage is searched, and later they are loaded on the boats on their way to Japan. Last night we (U. S. guards) caught a Korean with about fifty thousand yen on his person. We turned him to the Korean police, and he was sent to jail for a period of six months. The Koreans come into the pier area and take the Japanese money, and later they try to get out of the gate with their loot. They hide the money among their waist in cushions, but the military authorities are wise to them now.

They try to escape with suitcases full of valuable items for instance, kimono, silk and watches. Yesterday, while processing the Japanese, an old sugar bag was found filled with diamonds, emeralds and gems. The diamonds were cut very small and were very expensive, and worth probably $300,000—believe me that isn't bad, is it now?

In the remainder of the letter, Pvt. Cobb tells of his experiences with the Japanese, and how the M. P.'s handle them, being emphatic that they will not tolerate any underhand tricks.

Pvt. Nolan Cobb has been in the service since January 25, 1944, and served overseas since August 19, 1944.

Joe Gorman of Wilmington was treated at the Johnson Memorial Hospital as a result of a fall while driving his car on the highway near the intersection of the highway from the south and the highway from the north, on the morning of December 12, 1945.

The aged, non-motorist, means a serious season. Motorists show in the winter season from the south and the highway from the north, on the morning of December 12, 1945, from the opposite direction from the highway from the north, on the morning of December 12, 1945.

YOU WOULDN'T BUILD FENCES ACROSS A RACE TRACK!

Silly to suggest it isn't it? Fences across a race track would mean no races and the sport would be killed.

Isn't it just as silly, but far more serious, to build fences across highways? Not literally of course, but there are fences at many of the states lines. Tax fences, regulation fences, weight and length fences, all designed not to promote progress, but to retard modern transportation.

During the war the President requested suspension of state line trade barriers in order not to impede transportation. A sensible thing of course but just as sensible in peace time.

State line trade barriers help nobody but a special few. They should be abolished.

Too Busy to Think About the Years When You Won't Be So Busy?

Maybe you're better take time out, lean back in your chair, and think about it a little. Think ahead ten, fifteen, twenty years. . . or when it is your hope to be able to lay off and loaf?

Wouldn't it be pretty sweet to ease up when you're 55 or 60 and have a monthly income check follow you to Florida, to Europe, to wherever you want to pack up and go? You can arrange that, you know. Without pinching the joy out of life right now. That's what these Retirement Income Insurance Policies are all about. They're real LIFE insurance. Leisure insurance. Next time a Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance man comes in to talk to you about this kind of insurance, don't be busy. Invite him in. And listen.

Another thing. How long has it been since you had your present policies checked over? You know, conditions have changed. Laws have changed. . . maybe you'll want to change the beneficiary clause. And there's the matter of a policy that will see your youngster through college, give him an equal chance with other college men in this highly competitive world. Yes, keep your door open to Northwestern Mutual Insurance man. Keep your mind open. Some day you'll be mighty glad you did.

WHY NORTHWESTERN MUTUAL — The difference between life insurance companies is of vital importance when planning or buying the kind of independence that only life insurance brings. Do these two things: (1) see your Northwestern Mutual agent and let him tell you what that difference means to you; and (2) talk with any of our policyholders, for they can tell you why no company excels Northwestern Mutual in that happiest of all business relationships—old customers coming back for more.

By a peculiar quirk of the law an alderman or justice of the peace not only has to be elected but in addition has to notify the clerk of courts that he accepts the office. Thirty days are allowed for the elected alderman or justice of the peace to notify the clerk of courts but failure to do so in that length of time throws the office open. There are ten such cases at the present time. These ten places are now open and may be filled by the governor. All of them are in rural districts.

FORMER LOCAL MAN MAKES PROGRESS IN BATTLE ON FLU

What is hoped will prove the answer to the need for protection against influenza may have been discovered by a New Castle man. Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr., of the University of Michigan, Dr. Francis has developed a vaccine produced from fertile hens' eggs in collaboration with the surgeon general's office of the Federal government.

The experiments thus far have proven effective although it is too early yet to say definitely that a vaccine has been found, but it is proper to say that an advanced step has been taken in the long search for vaccine that will be effective.

Dr. Francis is a recognized authority on influenza. For many years he has been experimenting in search for a vaccine that would prove of value. He is the son of the late Rev. Thomas Francis, and his mother resides on Craig street.

After New Castle high school he attended Allegheny College and the Yale School of Medicine. For a time he was personal physician to the late John D. Rockefeller, and later was a member of the research staff of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Before going to the University of Michigan he was professor of bacteriology in New York University.

MISSION TAG DAY Raising Funds For Christmas Event

They're preparing the Region Mission Christmas dinner today, not by stuffing the turkey in making plum pudding but by getting money to finance it. Young leaders of the churches of the city are on the streets with cupboards for contributions of the citizens and at noon the response seemed to be better than last year.

The girls are under the supervision of Mrs. John H. Plimouth and are divided into squads, each with a squad leader. At noon they were given lunch in the dining room of the Pennsylvania Power Company served by the eastern service of the American Red Cross.

They will be on the streets until about five o'clock and at closing time Rev. D. R. West, superintendent of the Mission, hopes to have collected funds to furnish a Christmas dinner and provide the unfortunate of the city. In addition he hopes to send out baskets of groceries to families where the need exists.

CLEAN GARDEN TOOLS BEFORE STORING THEM

Clean and repair all garden implements before putting them away for the winter. These tools should be given a thorough overhauling and then stored properly, so they may be in good shape for use again next spring.

Rusted working surfaces can be cleaned with kerosene applied with a rag in a brisk rubbing. Once cleaned such surfaces can be protected from rust by applying oil. Crankcase draining can be used for this purpose, saving the expense of buying good oil. Wooden handles can be protected by rubbing with floor wax. When cleaned these tools should be stored in a dry place.

At the same time these implements are overhauled broken handles and broken metal parts should either be replaced or repaired. A protection against corrosion, fertilizer boxes on planters and drills should be thoroughly cleaned.

The metal lithium is so soft that it can be cut easily with an ordinary pocket knife.

Secretary Byrnes Reaches Moscow

MOSCOW, Dec. 15.—(INS)—U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes arrived in Moscow Friday after a trip by air from the United States. The plane made a surprise landing in the midst of a blinding snow-storm at 4:12 p. m.

Byrnes and his party landed at the military central airdrome, almost in the center of the capital, while U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and a welcoming party waited at another air field some 15 miles away.

The weather was so awful that the plane was not expected to get through and guesses were made that Byrnes would land at Warsaw.

Housing Shortage Acute At Penn State

'Growing Pains' At College As Lack Of Houses Turns Students Away

STATE COLLEGE, Dec. 15.—Penn State College is grappling with the problem of finding homes for a greatly increased number of well-equipped applicants on a campus where housing facilities have not been expanded for the past five years.

Turning Away Students

"As a result," President Ralph D. Hetzel said, "we are being forced to close out doors to many capable and deserving young men and women, including quite a few of our own former students back from the armed forces, simply because we have no place to house them."

This semester, the Penn State resident student body rose sharply in numbers from 2,192 to 5,849, an increase of more than 140 per cent. Nearly 1,500 of this number are veterans, compared with 91 ex-G. I.'s on the campus two years ago.

Nothing For Married Vets

The housing for married veterans is especially trying, and the college has assigned 100 veterans with families to a trailer camp. For the next semester another 100 trailers may be added.

To meet the emergency, the college has converted some of the basement into dormitories until the shortage is solved.

Part-Time Farming Post-War Prospect

Expect Increase In Small Farm Efforts By Veterans, City Workers

Population experts and farm economists believe that in the post-war era more and more city dwellers will buy themselves a plot of land in the country and go in for part-time farming.

Strong Before the War

The trend to the suburbs was going strong before the war, and with home-buying loans by returned veterans, a rapid increase is predicted. Between 1930 and 1940 the rural non-farm population increased twice as rapidly as the urban population. People in the rural non-farm populations are those who live in places of less than 2500 population but not on farms.

There are more house vacancies in the rural areas than in the cities and with electrification rapidly spreading to the outlying districts, a big movement is expected.

Communiting Easy

With improved bus schedules to and from the rural sections, commutation problems are being solved, and besides the rural dweller who works in the city has learned to share his auto with others.

Huge housing and road construction programs, victory garden experience and the increased use of frozen food lockers are expected to stimulate the trend to homes outside the city. Workers plan part-time farming ventures or at least vegetable growing to use as a hedge against a possible shorter work week.

One Ellwood City man and one New Castle driver had their cards revoked for intoxication. One Ellwood City driver had his license suspended for speeding.

At the same time three New Castle motorists had their licenses restored.
